

Metal Ceiling Production Line

Metal Ceiling Production Line

Metal Ceiling Production Line

The metal ceiling system can be used all over the world. The main reason is that while researching and designing it, all the technical requirements of backfire, fireproof, sound absorbing and structure for different buildings must be considered, and also have to be sent to authorized independent test organization to ensure that the technical requirements meet the standard. After that, the metal ceiling can be put into the market with different types and colors.

Producing technology and design of production unit-----the company masters technique for metal ceiling improves the production line step by step. The quality and the tolerance of our products are the best in this field. The development department has rich experience, so while designing and improving the product, they can consider the convenience for economy, function and construction.